Rocket energy rock finally hits the tube

Friday night (March 29), The Mutts will be back in town. If you don’t get a chance to see them live and direct, you can view them on the tube.

That’s right, the much awaited “Starsearch 91” program featuring our local boy-fried dogs will be shown on KGON-TV, that’s channel 9 here, at 4 p.m., Saturday (March 30).

In case you just crawled out of Biosphere I and haven’t heard of The Mutts, they are, individually, Hunter Bener, drums; Gail Biles, bass, and Chris Dracup, guitar and vocals.

They have been together for about nine years, starting in Taos as teen-agers. They now live in Albuquerque. They have two albums out and have opened for numerous big-name acts. All their music is original and can only be called rocket-energy rock.

Personally, I am going to tape the program and save it for those nights when I want to introduce ignorant friends to this great band.

Whatever happens, I know everyone who has followed them wishes them good luck.

... I know that many of you have seen the boose collection behind the bar at the Chili Connection. Owner Richard Vick claims to have one of the best bars in the state and has probably, bar none, the finest selection of cognacs. I believe him.
